Subject: Leadership Announcement – Ed Drachenberg

I am pleased to announce that on Monday Ed Drachenberg will assume the duties of director of students for international mission service (SIMS) in the Global Health Institute. He is replacing Emelly Rosspencer, who began full-time studies in marriage and family therapy in January 2015, after having served seven years as director of SIMS.

Ed comes to us from the department of talent management services where he worked as a recruiter strategist and brings extensive human resource and service delivery experience. He also has a background in nursing and worked in South America for three years. Ed has a keen interest in mission and will be responsible for managing a growing program of international service opportunities and partnerships for our students and faculty.

Ed's contact information is:

Telephone: 909-558-7636 or x87636
Email: edrachenberg@llu.edu
Address: 24880 Prospect Avenue

Please join me in welcoming Ed – feel free to stop by his office for introductions!
